

Unusual aspects on North Shore Oahu. (left) Late afternoon, backside of Sunset. Most places in the world you see the ocean like this and people are quick to call conditions "victory at sea". Not in Hawaii. Out come the big boards. (right) Late season at Backdoor, from the Pipe side of the peak. Not sure who the guy is, but a bonafide charger for sure. That's one of the great things about Hawaii - the "name" surfers are but a small piece of the pie. PHOTOS AND CAPTIONS: MOONWALKER

lensflair